Fearless A28

The sleekest piece of design to hit Miami this year won't be in a gallery at Art Basel. Instead, you'll have to head to the Miami Boat Show in late February to see luxury boat manufacturer Fearless Yachts' launch of its collaboration with Porsche Design Studio: a range of ultra high-end boats stylish enough for Bond and fast enough for Crockett and Tubbs. They'll be breaking a bottle of champagne on an entirely new type of machine, combining European style with go-fast boat power. The A28 packs 550 horsepower into a twin-step, deep-V hull, topping out at speeds in excess of 80 miles per hour. The interior's no slouch either; in the Porsche-inspired cockpit, you'll find a premium sound system and racing-style seating. If the 28-foot length is too diminutive for your tastes, don't worry; Fearless plans to release four more models over the next three years, doubling and then nearly quadrupling the length of the first. In 2008, take your pick of 44- and 68-foot boats, while in 2009 and 2010 Fearless plans to offer 125- and 150-footers, respectively. Coming soon to a marina near you.
